
TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	7
CHAPTER 1: STAKING OUT THE TERRITORY	9
Psycholinguistics, SLA and methodology	9
Research questions in SLA	14
Research approaches and language data collection	17
Basic terminology and historical overview	19
CHAPTER 2: FIRST LANGUAGE ACQUISITION	23
Child learning a language – phenomenon of speech	23
Theories of language and language acquisition – synergy ...	25
Behaviorist-structural perspective	27
Generative grammar-nativist perspective	30
Interactionist-sociocultural perspective	32
Beyond UG – Emergentism	38
Comparing FLA and SLA	45
CHAPTER 3: CRITICAL PERIOD HYPOTHESIS	49
Lateralization	49
CPH and first language acquisition	50
CPH and second language acquisition	51
Relating age to other factors	52
CHAPTER 4: BUILDING A UNIFIED THEORY OF SLA	57
Behaviorism	58
Nativism	62
Information processing	67
Interactionist position	70
CHAPTER 5: ECOLOGICAL PERSPECTIVE	73
Beyond input	74
Affordances as an alternative to input	75
Defining affordances	75
Signs as mediated affordances	78
Ways of personalization in language acquisition	82
CHAPTER 6: LEARNER LANGUAGE – INTERLANGUAGE	87
Constructing the system	87
Stages of interlanguage	89
Fossilization	90
Variability	91

CHAPTER 7: LANGUAGE VS. COMMUNICATIVE COMPETENCE	93
Language as grammar	93
Language as communication	94
Communicative competence	95
Communicative competence and language functions	96
CHAPTER 8: PSYCHOLOGICAL AND COGNITIVE DIMENSION	101
Learning processes	101
Learning styles	105
Learning strategies	110
Affect in language learning	112
Personality factors	114
Motivation and attitudes	116
Aptitude and intelligence	120
CHAPTER 9: SOCIOCULTURAL DIMENSION	125
Vygotsky and his contribution	125
Language and culture	128
Linguistic relativism	128
Acculturation	131
Social distance	132
CHAPTER 10: SLA THEORIES AND LANGUAGE PEDAGOGY	135
Classical Method	136
Reform Movement of the 19th century	136
Natural Methods	137
Oral Approach and Audiolingualism	138
Cognitive Approach	139
Communicative Approach	140
Humanistic Approach and Learner Autonomy	141
Methodology for the New Millennium	141
BIBLIOGRAPHY	145
GLOSSARY	157