

CONTENTS

About this book ix

- 1 What is communication? 1
 - The transmission model 1
 - From transmission to reception:
turning the model around 2
 - Getting to know each other 6
 - A new definition of communication 10

- 2 How conversations work 13
 - The three basic rules of good conversation 14
 - Why do conversations go wrong? 21
 - Putting conversations in context 21
 - Working out the relationship 23
 - Managing behaviour 28
 - The uses of conversation 30

- 3 Seven ways to improve your conversations 33
 - Clarify your objective 34
 - Structure your thinking 35
 - Manage your time 42
 - Find common ground 43
 - Move beyond argument 44
 - Summarize often 48
 - Use visuals 48

- 4 The skills of enquiry 55
Paying attention 56
Treating the speaker as an equal 59
Cultivating ease 60
Encouraging 61
Asking quality questions 63
Rationing information 65
Giving feedback 66
- 5 The skills of persuasion 71
Character, logic and passion 72
What's the Big Idea? 75
Arranging your ideas logically 79
Expressing your ideas 80
Remembering your ideas 82
Delivering effectively 83
- 6 Tough conversations 89
Six tough conversations 89
What makes conversations tough? 90
How we make tough conversations tougher 93
Three steps towards better tough conversations 94
- 7 Making a presentation 105
Preparing for the presentation 107
Managing the material 108
Controlling the audience 118
Looking after yourself 119
Answering questions 120

- 8 Putting it in writing 123
The trouble with e-mail 124
From speaking to writing 128
Editing your work 130
- 9 Networking: the new conversation 139
To network or not to network? 139
Preparing to network 141
The skills of networking conversations 149
Following up and building your network 153
- Appendix 159*