

CONTENTS

|                                                                                                                                                   |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Introduction ( Mykola Habrel and Tadeusz Marszał ) . . . . .                                                                               | 5   |
| 1. Sustainable Development and Urban Planning in Post-communist Cities– the Example of Polish Experience ( Tadeusz Marszał ) . . . . . | 7   |
| 2. Physiognomy and Architecture of Big Cities – the Case of Poland ( AnnaWojnarowska ) . . . . .                                      | 19  |
| 3. The Architectural Appearance of Large Cities – the Case of Ukraine( Andrij Rudnytskyi and Iryna Dyda ) . . . . .                    | 35  |
| 4. Major Methodological Trends in Development of New Master Plan ofKyiv City ( Henrich Filvarov and Alla Pleshkanovska ) . . . . .     | 55  |
| 5. Genesis and Problems of Spatial Development of Big Cities in Ukraine –the Example of Lviv ( Bohdan Posatskyi ) . . . . .            | 63  |
| 6. Technical Infrastructure and Transportation System in Big Cities( Bartosz Bartosiewicz and Iwona Pielesiak ) . . . . .              | 83  |
| 7. Contemporary Motorisation and Traffic Infrastructure in Ukrainian BigCities ( Iryna Starodub ) . . . . .                            | 105 |
| 8. Economic, Spatial and Social Changes in Łódź at the Time ofTransformation of Poland's Economy ( Danuta Stawasz ) . . . . .          | 115 |