

Contents

Introduction	3
Chapter 1. Financial risks faced by companies	7
1.1. Types of risk	7
1.2. The interest rate risk and the special role of interest rates in the economy.	7
1.3. Risk measures	9
1.4. Traditional risk and return ratios	15
1.5. Types of alternative risk and return measures	16
1.6. More details on alternative risk and return measures	18
Chapter 2. Standard derivatives in risk management	23
2.1. Forwards used in interest rate and liquidity risk mitigation.	23
2.2. Forward rate agreement (FRA) as a special case of the forward contract	24
2.3. Hedging interest rate risk with different kinds of caps.	25
2.4. Hedging with the use of floors	27
2.5. The usage of an interest rate zero-cost collar	28
2.6. Swaps applications	29
2.7. Managing risk with financial futures.	31
2.8. Options as a modern tool of financial risk management in a company	34
2.9. Options risk factors study.	36
2.10. Factors influencing option prices and their fluctuations in examples.	37
2.11. Option theoretical prices	47
2.12. Option investment strategies and possibilities of additional cash flow generating in a company with them. Case – studies	50
Chapter 3. The idea of exotic options and their valuation	59
3.1. The theory of barrier options and their valuation	59
3.2. Factors influencing binary options prices and their fluctuations. Case studies	66
3.3. Compound options and the possibilities of their pricing	76
3.4. Zero – cost collars	79
3.5. Typology, construction and valuation of Asian options	79
3.6. Empirical studies of market parameters influence on Asian options prices	85

3.7. Basics of the Monte Carlo simulation . . . . .	89
---	----

Chapter 4. Polish OTC market of options and examples of their applications in Polish enterprises . . . . .	91
4.1. Options traded on the Polish financial market . . . . .	91
4.2. Company hedging with barrier options. Case – study from the Polish financial market. . . . .	93
Bibliography . . . . .	112