

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	viii
List of abbreviations	xi
Note on citations	xv
I INTRODUCTION	I
Part I: The West Saxon Political Order	15
2 RESOURCES AND EXTRACTION	17
West Saxon resources and royal power	17
Military service and the common burdens	22
3 ROYAL LORDSHIP AND SECULAR OFFICE-HOLDING	28
The king's thegns	29
The royal household	34
Gifts and gift-giving	38
4 ROYAL LORDSHIP AND ECCLESIASTICAL OFFICE-HOLDING	44
A new accommodation: royal monasteries and the council of Kingston (838)	45
The Southumbrian episcopate and the state of ecclesiastical discipline	48
Bishops as 'the best king's thegns'	52
Royal priests in the royal household	54
Frankish ecclesiastical conditions and Carolingian kingship	58
5 THE ARTICULATION OF POWER UNDER KING ALFRED'S PREDECESSORS	63
Collective office-holding: West Saxon royal devotion	63
Royal office-holding: the First English Coronation Order	72
The uses of literacy?	78
Sources of textual culture (1) ecclesiastical communities	82
Sources of textual culture (2) the West Saxon royal household	86
6 THE IMPACT OF THE VIKINGS	93
Logistics of defence	94

Contents

Lordship and manpower	97
Land and landholding	99
Royal income and urban development	102
Collective security (1) 'king of the Anglo-Saxons'	105
Collective security (2) 'ruler of all the Christians of the island of Britain'	107
 Part II: Alfredian Discourse and its Efficacy
7 THE FIELD OF ALFREDIAN KNOWLEDGE	113
Alfredian innovation: Alfredian wisdom and the shift to vernacular prose	115
Intended audiences and the shift to vernacular literacy	120
Textual dissemination and the field of Alfredian knowledge	126
8 THE CONSTRUCTION OF ALFREDIAN DISCOURSE	130
'Royal' production: Alfredian discourse and its distinctiveness	130
Languages of office-holding (1) Gregorian language	134
Languages of office-holding (2) Solomon's dream	151
The implications of Alfredian discourse	166
9 ALFREDIAN TECHNOLOGY: BOOKS AND ÆDIFICIA	179
Books and book production	179
Candle-lantern, Fuller brooch and 'æstels'	185
10 THE HIERDEBOC AS A TREATISE OF POWER	193
Language and contexts	194
The origin and purpose of power	196
The active and contemplative lives	204
The Hierdeboe and the Southumbrian episcopate	209
11 THE DOMBOC AS A REORIENTATION OF ROYAL LAW	214
Written law: authority and status	214
The construction of Alfredian judgement	218
The historical projection of secular law	222
The defence of lordship	232
The Domboc in practice	238
12 TRIBULATION AND TRIUMPH IN THE FIRST FIFTY PSALMS	242
Psalmody and royal devotion	242
Apparatus and voice	245
God, rihtwisnes and sinful enemies	252
Hardships and divine justice	256
Alfred's Psalms and Alfredian theatre	261
13 THE SEARCH FOR A SATISFACTORY CONSOLATION	264
The Consolatio philosophiae in context	265
Royal translation and Carolingian expertise	270

Contents

	Alfredian adaptation: 'Mind', wisdom and 'worldly blessings'	280
	Craeft , tools and resources	287
	Wyrd and divine justice	295
	The Froferboç and Alfredian theatre	302
14	SEEING GOD AS HE IS	308
	The Soliloquia in context	309
	Royal translation and Carolingian expertise	312
	Alfredian adaptation: wisdom and the sight of God	317
	Lordship and authority	327
	Alfred's Soliloquies and Alfredian theatre	332
15	CONCLUSION	338
	Appendix: West Frankish deployment of Solomon's dream	351
	Bibliography	357
	Index of manuscripts	395
	General index	397