

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	ix
Scotland and nationalism: an introduction to the fourth edition	1
'Tis sixty years since' 1
The national dimension 4
PART I	9
1 The ballads of a nation: political nationalism, 1707-1945	11
The uses of liberty 11
Out of sync 14
Calvinism in one country 16
Eighteen eighty-six 19
'The strategy of noisy inaction' 23
Devolution in a cold climate 25
The nationalism of the literati 27
Tom Johnston at St Andrew's House 31
2 An achieving society: Unionist Scotland, 1707-1945	36
Between two nationalisms 36
Non-national nationalism 38
English gold 40
'Semi-independence' 42
Catching up and holding down 46
Disruptions 53
Scotus Viator 58
Professing imperialism 62
'That depressed region' 74

- 3 The intellectuals, 1707–1945 80
- Marxism and the democratic intellect* 80
- Grandeurs and miseries of Calvinism* 85
- Improvement* 87
- Wizardry* 90
- Carlyle's Empire* 92
- Kailyard* 97
- Renaissance* 101
- Stony limits* 106
- PART II 111
- 4 Leaders to no sure land: Unionist Scotland, 1945–79 113
- Scotland: new and unknown* 113
- From tendency to transaction* 115
- Administrative devolution* 116
- Business blues* 118
- Consensus collectivism* 122
- The planner's vision* 125
- White heat to red face* 127
- Intractability* 131
- 5 Nothing abides: civil society, 1945–79 133
- Estates and policies* 133
- Parliament House* 135
- The passing of the burghs* 137
- Ungodly commonwealth* 140
- The dominie's dilemma* 143
- 'A licence to print money'* 146
- 'From scenes like these'* 148
- Utopia now!* 153
- Papering the town red* 157
- 6 A dance to the music of nationalism, 1945–79 162
- MacCormick's moment* 162
- The SNP revives* 166
- The Liberal challenge* 168
- The first wave* 169
- Hanging on* 174
- The black, black oil* 175

CONTENTS

Kilbrandon and the second wave	179
The magic party	181
Devolution and Westminster	183
The SNP in trouble	185
The débâcle	186
PART III	189
7 On the eve	191
In an old building	191
Nationalisms in conflict	193
Sounding civil society	195
A new economy?	198
'This is the junk mail, crossing the border'	202
Society: settled, insecure, excluded	205
Uppies and doonies	208
In the postmodern megastore?	210
The revenge of Caliban	213
Reversing into history	216
8 'A journey that has no end': politics, 1979–2000	219
'TBW'	219
From campaign to convention	221
A stay of execution	225
Taking stock	227
Walking with destiny	231
The parties and the settlement	234
The first Scottish government	238
9 Answered prayers	240
The monument	240
The 2003 election	242
Damned dangerous north Britons?	244
An economic future?	247
The shape of democracy	249
Il faut cultiver notre jardin	251
Chronology	253
Further reading	259
Index	267