

List of Figures

List of Tables

Notes on Contributors

Acknowledgements

Introduction

Jennifer Rowsell and Kate Pahl

PART I

The foundations of literacy studies

1 The social and linguistic turns in studying language and literacy

David Bloome and Judith Green

2 The New Literacy Studies

James Paul Gee

3 Postcolonial approaches to literacy: understanding the "other"

Rahat Naqvi

4 Critical literacy education: a kaleidoscopic view of the field

Rebecca Rogers and Katherine O'Daniels

5 Bi/multilingual literacies in literacy studies

Angel M. Y. Lin and David C. S. Li

PART II

Space-focused approaches

6 Socio-spatial approaches to literacy studies: rethinking the social constitution and politics of space

Kathy A. Mills and Barbara Comber

7 Ecological approaches to literacy research

Sue Nichols

8 Rural literacies: text and content beyond the metropolis

Michael Corbett

9 Urban literacies

Valerie Kinloch

10 Indigenous literacies in literacy studies

Lynn Mario T. Menezes de Souza

11 Faith literacies

Andrey Rosowsky

PART III

Time-focused approaches

12 Historical inquiry in literacy education: calling on clio

Bill Green and Phillip Cormack

13 Postmodernism and literacy studies

Lalitha Vasudevan, Kristine Rodriguez Kerr, Tara L. Conley, and Joseph Riina-Ferrie

14 Longitudinal studies and literacy studies

Catherine Compton-Lilly

15 Literacy policy and curriculum

Jim Cummins

PART IV

Multimodal approaches

16 Multimodal social semiotics: writing in online contexts

Myrrh Domingo, Carey Jewitt and Gunther Kress

17 The semiotic mobility of literacy: four analytical approaches

Denise Newfield

18 Remaking meaning across modes in literacy studies

Diane Mavers

19 Multimodality and sensory ethnographies

Abigail Hackett

20 Cultural affordances of visual mode texts in and of Japanese landscapes and young children's emerging comprehension of semiotic texts

Dylan Yamada-Rice

21 Social design literacies: designing action literacies for fast-changing lives

Jay Lemke and Caspar van Helden

PART V

Digital approaches

22 Popular culture, digital worlds and second language learners

Alice Chik

23 Videogames and literacies: historical threads and contemporary practices

Sandra Schamroth Abrams

24 Virtual spaces in literacy studies

Julia Gillen

25 Consumer literacies and virtual world games
Rebekah Willett

26 Facebook narratives
Julia Davies

PART VI

Hermeneutic approaches

27 Literary theory and new literacy studies: conversations across fields
Richard Steadman-Jones and Kate Pahl

28 Looking good: aesthetics, multimodality and literacy studies
Theo van Leeuwen

29 Poetry, metaphor and performance: literacy as a philosophical act
Kathleen Gallagher

30 Phenomenology and literacy studies
Rachel Heydon and Jennifer Rowsell

31 Hermeneutics of literacy pedagogy
Rob Simon and Gerald Campano

PART VII

Making meaning from the everyday

32 Materialising literacies
Kate Pahl and Hugh Escott

33 Moving voices: literacy narratives in a testimonial culture
Mary Hamilton

34 (Im)materialising literacies
Cathy Burnett

35 English language learners, participatory ethnography and embodied knowing within literacy
Burcu Yaman Ntelioglou

36 Making, remaking, and reimagining the everyday: play, creativity, and popular media
Karen E. Wohlwend

37 Literacy as worldmaking: multimodality, creativity and cosmopolitanism
Amy Stornaiuolo

PART VIII

Co-constructing literacies with communities

38 Literacy studies and situated methods: exploring the social organization of household activity and family media use

Lisa H. Schwartz and Kris D. Gutiérrez

39 Oral history as a community literacy project

Valerie J. Janesick

40 Participatory methodologies and literacy studies

Saskia Stille

41 The affordances and challenges of visual methodologies in literacy studies

Maureen Kendrick

42 Literacy with mobiles in print poor communities

Sue Muller, Hilary Janks, and James EM Stiles

43 Literacies and research as social change

Claudia Mitchell and Casey Burkholder

Index