

Contents

Tables, Figures and Boxes	vii
Contributors	ix
Preface	xiii
Alison Torn and Pete Greasley
Acknowledgements	xvii
Part I Nursing and the Psychology of Health and Health care	1
1 What is Psychology and Why is it Relevant to Nursing?	3
Pete Greasley
2 Psychology and Models of Health.....	21
Sally Sargeant
Part II Being a Patient	35
3 Nursing the Child and Young Person	37
Paul Buckley and Sue Elmer
4 Nursing the Adult.....	54
Alison Torn
5 Nursing Those with Learning Disabilities.....	69
Raghu Raghavan
6 Nursing People with Dementia	84
Claire Surr
7 Nursing Those in Pain	101
James Jackson
8 Nursing Those at the End of Life	115
Vanessa Taylor and Beverley Norris
Part III Mental Health in the Nursing Environment	135
9 Stress and Illness.....	137
James Jackson
10 Anxiety and Depression	150
Joe MacDonagh
11 Altered Mental States.....	165
Steve Williams and Gabrielle Tracy McClelland

Part IV	Communication and Therapeutic Talk	181
12	Cognitive Behavioural Therapy Jane Toner	183
13	Counselling..... Peter Spencer	200
14	Motivational Dialogue Gillian Tober	217
	Conclusion	235
15	Psychology and Working as a Nurse Sally Sargeant, Patricia Johnson and Patricia Green	237
	References	249
	Index	284