

Contents

List of Figures, Tables and Boxes

viii

Preface

xi

List of Abbreviations

xii

	Introduction: Methods, Methodology and Making Sense of the Study of Politics	1
	Guiding themes	2
	Structure of the book	5
1	The Discipline of Politics	9
	The diverse traditions of political science	9
	Dominant paradigms	19
	Political studies or political science: some methodological considerations	30
2	Research Design and the Research Process	38
	The meaning of research design	39
	The research process	45
	The research labyrinth	53
	Types of research design	55
	Conclusion	68
3	Comparative Methods	69
	Comparative political science: substance and method	70
	Designing comparative research	73
	Why compare? The advantages	80
	The limits of comparison	83
	Cases: how many, and which?	87
	Conclusion	94
4	Surveys, Polls and Focus Groups	96
	Surveys, opinion polls and politics	97
	History of opinion polls and surveys	99
	Sampling procedures	102
	Types of sample design	103
	Administering surveys	108
	Interviewing	123

	Coding and analysis	125
	Focus groups	128
	Conclusion	136
5	Descriptive Statistics	138
	Levels of measurement, central tendency and spread	140
	Choosing descriptive statistics	151
	Presenting descriptive statistics	153
	All that glitters ...	166
	Conclusion	169
6	Making Inferences	171
	What is inference?	172
	Inference – logic and problems	177
	Inferences in political science	179
	Conclusion	186
7	Documentary and Archival Analysis	187
	Use and abuse of secondary and tertiary documentary sources in political science	190
	The analysis of primary sources	195
	Research in the Public Record Office (the UK's National Archives) and the National Archives, Washington	200
	Conclusion: the value and limits of documentary and archival analysis	208
8	The Internet and Political Research	213
	Searching the internet	216
	Electronic resources for political research	218
	Online polling	224
	Elite interviewing online	228
	Conclusions	230
9	Elite Interviewing	231
	Decide who you want to see	233
	Get access and arrange the interview	235
	Conduct the interview	238
	Analyse the results	245
	Conclusions	246
10	Discourse Analysis and Other Methods	248
	Discourse analysis	249
	Content analysis	259
	The advantages and limitations of content analysis	264
	Participant observation	264
	Conclusion	281

11	Ethics and Political Research	282
	The nature of ethical problems	283
	Two broad approaches to ethical problems	284
	Five basic ethical principles	286
	The relationship with sponsors	288
	Gatekeepers	292
	Citizens	295
	The problem of fraud in research	296
	Professional codes of conduct	298
	Conclusions	303
12	Research and the Policy Process	305
	The demand side: what policymakers want from researchers	305
	The supply side: what researchers can provide	310
	The mediating effect of national structures and cultures	313
	Bridging the gap	318
	How could the contribution of research to policymaking be improved?	322
	Conclusion	324
13	Conclusion: Challenging the Mainstream and the Qualitative/Quantitative Divide	325
	Feminist methods?	325
	Anti-racist and Marxist challenges	330
	Theory, methods and the qualitative/quantitative divide	331
	Suggestions for Further Reading	335
	References	340
	Index	361